Admission is free
Open to public

Please register by Thursday, May 15 by contacting one of the following individuals:

- Dr. Maria Leite-Browning at mll0002@aces.edu or 256-372-4954
- Dr. Richard Browning Jr. at rbrowning@tnstate.edu or 615-963-5837
- Eddie Wheeler at wheeled@auburn.edu or 256-264-5539
- Tommie Teacher at teachto@auburn.edu or 334-624-8710
- Prince A. Preyer at pap0009@aces.edu or 256-532-1578
About the Conference & Field Day...

Join the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, Tennessee State University's College of Agriculture, Human and Natural Sciences and the American Kiko Goat Association at the Seventh Annual Small Ruminant Conference and Field Day.

The Annual Small Ruminant Conference and Field Day is a yearly tradition between ACES at Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical University and Tennessee State University (TSU) that is designed to educate audiences about the art of meat goat production. The theme this year is “The Basics.” Agricultural experts will provide research-based information and hands-on demonstrations at TSU’s Agricultural Research and Education Center that is the home of more than 350 Boer, Tennessee Fainting, Kiko, Spanish, and Savanna goats.

May 30 Agenda
9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

9:00-10:15  Presentation on Meat Goat Genetics
10:30-12:00 Concurrent Sessions
   Goat Necropsy .................................................................45 min
   Fecal Egg Counting (McMaster Technique) .....................45 min
   FAMACHA System Demonstration ................................15 min
   Injection Site Demonstration ........................................15 min
   Hoof Evaluation and Care .............................................15 min
   Collecting Hay Sample for Analysis ..............................15 min
   Ear Tagging ID (1 Session Only).................................15 min
12:00-1:00  Lunch
1:00-2:00   Goat Live Grading
2:15-3:15   Fencing, Housing, Water Supplies, & Guardian Animals
3:30-4:30   Program Evaluation